WASHINGTON.

The Corean Missionary Affair.

WASHINGTON, July 24. Dr. Allen, secretary of the Corean embassy, called at the State department this morning and talked with Mr. Wharton about the case of Mrs. Hattie G. Herron, the missionary reported under sentence of death in Corea for preaching the doctrine of Christianity. No news could be given him as the department has not yet heard from Minister Dinsmore. A cablegram is expected, however, by to-morrow. Dr. Allen stated to Mr. Morton his entire disbelief in the truth of the story.

IMPORTED WOOL.

Protection Taken Off by Construction.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 24. Within the last few days, at the suggestion of Mr. Leach surveyor of the port of Philadelphia, Pittsburg appraisers have decided to admit English wool at ten cents a pound instead of thirty or sixty, according to classification, as heretofore. This course will make English wool cheaper than the American article and it is feared that the wool industry hereabouts will be ruined.

MARRIED IN HASTE.

Ending in a Terrible Tragedy.

LAKE MAHOPAC, N. Y., July 24. Chauncey Knifen, 22 years of age, shot himself dead yesterday morning after he had shot three times at his wife Annie, 18 years of age. The young woman was alive this morning but will die. There is no known cause for the tragedy beyond the fact that the couple have quarrelled continually since their marriage four years ago.

A BIG SCHEME.

The Ohio and Indiana Natural Gas Lands.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 24. The Cleveland opponents of the Standard Oil company in the Ohio oil and gas fields say that the big trust is certainly engaged in an effort to control the natural gas lands of Ohio and Indiana. For natural gas lands on which leases could have been secured a short time ago at $2 or $3 an acre, $20 an acre has been paid by Standard representatives recently.

LICENSE IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

A Local Option Bill to be Reported.

CONCORD, N. H., July 24. Governor Goodell signed the compromise railroad bill this forenoon. The House judiciary committee will report a local option license bill, with amendment increasing the minimum license fee to $500, making the measure practically a high license bill.

OFF FOR EUROPE.

Representative Working People on a Tour.

NEW YORK, July 24. The steamship City of Rome, which left here to-day, had on board a party of forty-two representative workmen from the west, bound for a trip through the chief manufacturing centers of England, Scotland, France, Germany and Belgium and the Paris exposition. With the party are four lady stenographers and type writers, who will keep the records of the party during the tour.

THE RHODE ISLAND LIQUOR BILL.

The Democrats Don't Want the License too High.

PROVIDENCE, July 24. The Senate passed the license bill from the House today with several amendments, chiefly representing the difference of opinion between the Republican Senate and Democratic House. A four hundred feet school house clause was inserted, the power to appoint license Commissioners was vested in the boards of aldermen instead of mayor of cities, and one-half of the license fees given to the State instead of letting the town have it all.

The retail license fee was made $500, instead of $400 for the city of Providence and $400 for all other cities and towns. The House will not agree to the amended bill and a hard fight, with a possible deadlock is looked for.

ILLNESS OF GOVERNOR AMES.

Said to be Affected by Heart Disease.

BOSTON, July 24. A special from North Easton says that Governor Ames is very ill at his home there. The despatch further says that the Governor is affected with heart disease which his attending physician says ought not to prove dangerous provided the Governor holds himself aloof from any exciting influences, whether of business or politics, and hereafter embarks in nothing without careful consideration of its effect upon his health. Monday evening he became prostrated and has since been kept very quiet at his home. Lieut. Gov. Brackett has been summoned from New Hampshire and will perform the Governor's duties until the latter is able to resume them. He has never fully recovered from his illness of a year ago.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

Mrs. Alexander Hartwell of Auburn was bitten on the hand by a horse the other day and until very recently it was thought that she would lose it by reason of blood poisoning. The horse is quite a family pet, and it was Mrs. Hartwell's custom when passing by it to place her hand upon its nose. Almost always she gave it something to eat, but at this time she did not. The horse snapped at her hand, catching the thumb, badly biting it.

Aroostook.

The Aroostook Pioneer says Sadie Dority, fifteen years old, whose parents live in Cary Plantation, was arrested recently, on charge of obtaining goods under false pretences and committed to jail, where she attempted to commit suicide. She borrowed a hand glass from a prisoner in a neighboring cell and breaking up the glass swallowed the dose. Her throat is raw and badly swollen, but it is thought she will recover.

Cumberland.

A fine Fearnaught gelding owned by Frank J. Morse of Gilfield, was nearly ruined by getting frightened while cultivating corn and running away with a cultivator attached. Mr. M.'s son, 12 years of age, was on his back at the time and was thrown against a stone with sufficient force to render him insensible for a long time, though his injuries didn't prove so serious as was at first feared. The horse ran till completely exhausted before he was captured, since which he has been entirely unmanageable.

Franklin.

The bursting of the dam at Wilton some two weeks ago proved to be more disastrous than was anticipated at that time. In taking away the flume it was found that a large washout had been made. The damage will exceed a thousand dollars.

Kennebec.

There is the usual talk about who shall succeed Capt. Ray P. Eaton as commissary at Togus. The name of A. L. Smith, chief clerk in the treasurer's office, seems to be the one mentioned just at present for that office.

Mrs. Sarah Field, wife of Thomas Field, Esq., of Whitefield, died very suddenly Monday, of heart disease. She was in her usual good health up to the time, and her death was a great shock to her family and neighbors. She was a woman greatly beloved by all who knew her and she was about seventy years old.

There is a big fleet of three or four masted schooners in the Kennebec and the shipments of ice are going on briskly. The ruling price for the cool comfort is $2 per ton. The Kennebec ice men will make lots of money this season, and, of course, they are happy. One ice man, it is said, will make $50,000.

There is considerable excitement in Somerville, some twelve miles from Augusta, over the discovery of a plumbago mine on Crummett's farm. There is a bill held to be sold with the mineral. Howard Bruce, of Augusta, has bonded the territory on which the deposit is located, and will begin mining next week. Specimens from the mine exhibited are of superior excellence.

The farmers along the pond road, Manchester, are so beset by dogs that they must give up raising lambs and chickens if no other remedy can be found. Last Friday, Warren Hawkes found a fine early lamb killed and asleep or two bitten. Last year he lost from eight to fourteen sheep and lambs. Mark Osbone recently lost several chickens and Saturday Loring Farr's farm yard was raided by the curs, and chickens left dead.

A severe hailstorm passed over Winslow, last week. The hail bolt was about half a mile wide, striking the farms of T. C. Chamberlain, S. Garland and James Chaffee, cutting leaves from the trees and working complete ruin to the gardens. The hail was two inches on a level and in trenches it was eight inches in a number of places. The leaves were stripped from pole beans as clean as a knife were used. Some of the stones were three-quarters of an inch in diameter.

Prof. Vose of Boston was called to Augusta last week to examine into the safety of the building on the corner of Bridge and Water streets. The building is owned by the Eaton heirs, and is occupied by Devine & Coughlin, druggists. Prof Vose gave the entire building a thorough examination and pronounced it unsafe. He said the walls, though they might stand for some little time, were liable to fall at any moment. The question that now agitates those who walk past its walls is, will measures be taken to have the walls come down before they fall and perchance do fatal injury.

It is still remembered, says an Augusta dispatch, that some time since one Geo. C. Hayden died suddenly in St. Louis. He was reputed to be a bachelor, and left property to the value of some $100,000, which is now in the hands of the public administrator at St. Louis. The heirs live in Winslow and Waterville, and last week were engaged in taking depositions to prove their identity as his kindred and legal heirs. But a new and unexpected complication has arisen. A woman residing in Chicago has appeared, and claims that she was the daughter of Hayden, by a divorced wife, therefore becoming his only heir. A firm of Chicago lawyers and a well known Kennebec lawyer, have been retained in her behalf, and if her claim is established the up river heirs are left out in the cold.

Knox.

Francis C. Sawtelle, of Rockland, died suddenly Saturday afternoon, from heart trouble, aged 48 years. He leaves a widow and four children.

The new and valuable farm building of Lora Bowman at Washington were totally consumed by fire Tuesday night. Mr. Bowman and a young son who was sleeping with him narrowly escaped perishing in the flames. The origin of the fire is unknown. Loss $1,500; partially insured.

Oxford.

Monday July 15th, an alarm of fire sent the people of Paris village hurrying to the house of W. H. Cummings, just out of the village. When the first comers arrived, the barn was a solid mass of flames, and flames and smoke were rushing through the buildings which connected the house and barn. One ox, a horse and a valuable colt were burned in the barn. Another ox and cow were also tied, but broke away and got out, without being seriously burned. A hog got out but was so badly burned that she was killed; four pigs escaped. When the fire discovered, Mrs. Cummings ran to the barn to let out the animals, but the flames had got such headway that it was impossible to get inside the barn. Mr. Cummings was away from home. How the fire originated is not known. The loss is between $1,500 and $2,000; insured $1,000.

Washington.

A six-years-old son of Henry Moore fell off the Dublin wharf, Machias, Saturday. The water was several feet deep and the boy would have been drowned but for Sam McHalvey who went down and raised the body to the surface. Life appeared extinct but was readily restored.

Mr. Adolph Cluss from the Supervising Architect's office, Washington, arrived at Eastport, Tuesday, on business connected with the new Custom House and Postoffice building. He will have a new survey of the lot made with a view of locating the foundation of the proposed building.

Fred H., about eighteen years old, son of John W. Foster of Machias, [illegible]

LOCAL MATTERS.

THE EAST CORINTH FIRE.

Gilman Arraigned and Pleads Not Guilty.

First Day of the Hearing Before Judge Brett.

The Forenoon's Proceedings — Testimony Concerning the Safe and Lock.

The Municipal Court room was crowded full at ten o'clock and there was the usual pushing and crowding. Gilman was brought into court shortly before the appointed hour by Deputy Sheriff Reed. He was looking quite well although he had rather an anxious look on his countenance, as was quite natural under the circumstances. He seemed to be feeling very badly and was very nervous. When his wife and her father and mother came in and greeted him there was an affecting scene, the tears appearing in Gilmans eyes. Judge Brett came into court shortly after ten o'clock. The enclosure of the room was filled with ladies and members of the bar and witnesses. The interest in the case was shown by the large attendance.

At twenty minutes after ten o'clock the court called order and the court read the warrant to Charles S. Gilman who answered to the inquiry,

"NOT GUILTY."

One door of the safe which was in Gilman's store was brought in at this point. The witnesses in the case stood up and were sworn.

Joseph Morrill was the first witness called and questioned by County Attorney Bailey. Reside in Bangor and am a machinist. Have examined the safe door belonging to Gilman. Find the door has been drilled. Should say it was drilled from both sides, can not say whether more than one drill was used or not. It must have been a long and slender drill to make the hole. The outside and inside holes are not of the same size, the inside one being the smaller. Think it was drilled from both sides because were it drilled on one side, one side would have bulged out more or less. There is no burr indicating this. Find no burr on the outside indicating this. Am not positive whether the same sized drill was used for both holes or not. There is a variation in the two holes, should say they were of different sizes. The construction of the safe door was then described. The outside sheet is a thick sheet, the one on the inside being thinner apparently laying against it. Have had experience in repairing and opening safes in banks etc., since 1857, having been occupied more or less during that time. A part of the lock was shown and the witness described it in its proper position. It was for the purpose of holding the bolt back but in its present bent condition can not do this. In order to work as it was intended it would have to be bent back some three-sixteenths of an inch. This piece of iron is attached to the bar connected with the bolts. This piece stands over the hole which was drilled and the drill must have struck it in being thrown from the outside. Do not think the piece of iron was bent by any force from the outside. Do not think in my judgment that it was bent in that way. There is nothing to hold it, to bend it, it would yield and fly away to one side. See nothing to indicate that there was any force from the outside. Do not think it was bent while it was in position.

By Col. Hutchins; Do not know that I ever saw a combination exactly like this. There are forty or fifty different combinations possible to a safe of this kind. Have worked as a machinist until thirteen years ago when I was appointed an engineer of the fire engines of Bangor and Superintendent of the Fire Alarm. Have worked at Hinckley & Egery's for about forty-two years, and for the old Veazie railroad for a number of years. Have done a good deal of repairing safe locks, and put on the first combination lock over put on in this city. Have been called in by some of the banks to repair their locks. The last one was at the Bangor Savings Bank when they were locked out, and I opened it without any boring. Have examined this safe door before.

A LONG EXAMINATION

was here made of the safe door by the counsel and the witness and the bore was described. The witness could not tell whether the two holes met and exactly agree on account of the soft condition of the layer of cement. The counsel explained to the court that the point he was making was, that as the witness claimed that the two outside layers were bored from the outside, and the inside layer from the inside, it would be almost a physical impossibility to make the two borings meet without any jog. The witness then showed fully the working of the lock, making measurements and taking the lock to pieces. The witness said that all appearances went to show that it was drilled from each outside. Cannot swear to it that it was bored from both sides, but think it was. The hole on the outside measures about seven-sixteenths of an inch, and the one on the inside about five-sixteenth of an inch in diameter. Think the drill on the outside with the larger drill extended through the outside plate. Should not open a safe in that way myself, should knock the lock off. Should think a person in opening a safe of this kind would know the position of the dog and know just where to strike it. Think if a blow had been struck from the outside the inside thin plate would have been bent.

The next witness was David Fletcher. Reside in East Corinth village. Was there on the night of the fire. Live on the opposite side of the street, a short distance from it. Was asleep or nearly so when a cry of attracted my attention. It sounded like a female voice. On looking out of the window I saw the flames bursting out of the end of the building. It was about ten minutes before I arrived at the fire. The flames had not then reached the drug store. There was a space between the Tidesell building and the Johnson and Philbrick building. The fire was working toward the drug store. I ran in between the two buildings with my pail full of water [illegible]

[illegible] Upstairs was a furniture room. Do not remember of meeting any one on the way to the fire.

Frank Riley was the next witness. Live in East Corinth and occupy part of the Tidesell building. I occupy the upper part as a furniture store, and Mr. Bean used the lower part as a candy store and other stock of goods. I had part of the lower part of the building. The Post Office was moved from there about one week before the fire. Think there was a space of about twelve or fifteen feet between the two buildings. The shed behind the building was used by me as a storehouse and as a woodshed. It was

LOCKED WITH A PADLOCK

Think it was locked on the night of the fire, but could not say for certain, as I had not been in it for some time. The padlock was on the outside. One of the windows of the building opened into the shed. Tried to get my goods out when I got to the fire, but could not, as the flames were well under way. Live north of my store, about one-eighth of a mile. Left my store about nine o'clock on that evening. In the evening was tending store for Mr. Bean. Went home alone. Did not see anybody on the way. Saw no strangers about that evening. Saw as I ran up to the fire that they were carrying out something from the drug store. As I went home I looked about to see if the other stores were closed, and saw Mr. Gilman in his store. This was about nine o'clock.

Dr. C. S. Philbrick was the next witness called. Reside in East Corinth. Am a practicing physician. Carry on the drug store with William F. Johnson, who now lives in Oldtown. The building was owned by Johnson and myself. Gilman occupied part of our store. The witness drew a diagram showing the interior of the store and explained the situations. Gilman has had part of the store since the opening of the store in December, 1885. Gilman tended store for me, being paid a weekly salary. I was in the store sometimes a half day and sometimes all day, varying with the outside duties. This safe had been in the office about a year. The safe has not yet been paid for entirely. It was bought by the firm and Gilman had one third of it. Gilman used it to place his jewelry in and had

A PRIVATE DRAWER.

The firm used it to put the money in and I had a private drawer. It was wooden with a lock on it. Gilman had access to the whole safe with the exception of my private drawer and sometimes to that as I did not always lock it. On the night of the fire my private drawer was locked. We both had the combination and keys to the inner door. Think there were two keys with the safe and Gilman made a third as there were three interested in the safe. The doors were double on the outside and inside. When the safe was bought a caution was given about losing the keys as no duplicate was kept and it would be some trouble and expense to get them fitted. When Johnson left he gave me his key and this was kept in a drawer in the desk. This key was found in its usual place in the desk which was saved from the fire. I had all three of the keys to the inside door of the safe at the time of the fire as I had borrowed Gilman's key, having left mine at home, so I had all three of the keys in my possession. Was in the store all the afternoon of the day of the fire. Was at the store in the evening about 9 o'clock to see if there was any mail. Wrote an answer to one letter requiring an answer. At this time Gilman and his wife were in the store.

At this point court adjourned till afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

[For afternoon proceedings see third page.]

Is Prohibition a Failure?

Editor of the Whig and Courier:

While it is true that the people of several of the (so-called) Atlantic States, including puritanical Massachusetts, have refused to incorporate prohibition in their Constitutions, and the whisky-drinking elements of society are just now squinting across their rubicund noses with a leer of delight over the supposed death-blow to the temperance cause, it is also true that a righteous cause, like that of temperance, can stand a great many "death-blows" of that kind; "for the eternal years of God are hers," and the friends of truth can take their time.

The great bugbear of the enemies of prohibition is that it deprives the moderate drinker of his light tipple of wine, beer or cider. Now, it does nothing of the kind. It does not even prevent a man from making a sot of himself in his own house. It merely closes up those dens of death, the retail liquor saloons. Hence, all this talk about prohibition infringing upon human rights is the veriest bosh. No one has a right to injure his neighbor.

The law recognizes this principle in its suppression of opium dens, gambling, and other forms of vice. Wherein does the traffic in liquor differ from that of the sale of opium and other poisons? If the law may restrict or prohibit the sale of the one, why may it not the other?

Is it not a fact that the public drinking-saloon is detrimental to the best interests of society? Is there an anti-prohibitionist in the land who will not concede this fact? Not even the grossly intemperate will admit that drunkenness and debauchery are good things to be fostered and encouraged. We never heard of a father who would encourage his son in frequenting drinking-saloons. And yet, many otherwise good men will persist in voting down prohibition, under the erroneous supposition that prohibition will, in some way, trench upon their rights.

Some day they will become wiser, perhaps—some day when they behold some ideal of their h[illegible] health and happiness, and [illegible] down to a drunk[illegible]

It is often [illegible] City [illegible] City [illegible] gor? [illegible] Paul.

A [illegible]

To the [illegible] Whig and Courier:

It seems [illegible] some of the comments made [illegible] valuable paper upon Sullivan and the recent prize-fight, are [illegible] too [illegible] but after all [illegible] wiser way would be to license prize-fighting in the State of Maine, and thus draw in all the money which the southern railroads, hotels, et cetera, made out of the event. Make the license fee $500 or $1,000, and you make it a respectable accomplishment. Keep the poorer classes out, add as much refinement to it as the nature of the case admits, promote business, and prevent hypocrisy. As it is now, if it is allowed to remain illegal, then our Dalys and the host of young stars who are just beginning to twinkle under the present illumination, will continue to feel mean and sneaky and run from the police just as they are getting warmed up in a little setto, and thus their fine feelings will get demoralized and they may be led into paths of dishonesty. They will fight more and harder, too, out of contrariness. Contrariness is a law of nature—some nature—and you can't legislate it out of them. Let us have our bruising regulated and done under Queensbury rules, and get a big revenue from it, as a step towards abolishing the prize-ring and the appetite for it in the rising generation.

Whig and Courier.

BOUTELLE & BURR, PROPRIETORS.

C. A. BOUTELLE, EDITOR

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle & Burr, and communications intended for publication should be addressed: "Editor of Whig and Courier."

THURSDAY, JULY 25, 1889.

We publish on the first page this morning pertinent communications upon the saloon question, favoring an enforcement of the law.

Democrats are filled with open-mouthed wonder at the announcement that the Hon. R. G. Horr declined the consulship at Valparaiso. No Democrat ever was known to do such a thing.

The Boston Globe does not find much satisfaction in the Hub Democrats' idea of "getting together," and tells them if they maintain the same robust spirit it means "destruction to the polls next December."

A Cincinnati despatch denies the report concerning the ill health of Murat Halstead. Mr. Halstead's son stated that he was in constant communication with his father, who was in good health and would sail for home Wednesday.

A correspondent of the New York Times, who has been investigating temperance sentiment and conditions in Kansas, finds that there is no diminution in the support of the prohibition policy, and he predicts that this policy would be sustained by at least by 100,000 majority if it were made an issue now.

The Democratic national committee is still $10,000 in debt for expenses incurred in the last campaign. Chairman Brice has contributed $100,000 to discharge the committee's obligations. He has paid handsomely for the privilege of predicting rainbows in the political skies. It is now in order for other false prophets of the Democratic party to make up the deficiency.

The great disappointment of the season to the Democratic press has been the satisfactory settlement of the Carnegie strike, says the Boston Traveller. The Democrat editors were just counting on this strike. They were going to have Evil articles about Evil shooting down of honest toilers with Winchester rifles at the dictation of a bloated monopolist," and their present disappointment is truly pathetic.

According to the dispatches from Arkansas, at the recent special election in St. Francis county, in that State almost the entire Republican voting strength remained away from the polls, while in some heavy Republican town ships not a single Republican ballot was cast or counted. In other words, the hopes which the Democratic politicians built on the moral effect of the massacre of Republicans at Forest City were fully realized.

A firm in Chicago engaged in the manufacture of tin cans and japanned ware, has patented an invention which, competent judges say, will revolutionize the tin and steel industry of the world. Patents have been secured in the leading countries of the world. It is, in brief, a process by which molten metal may be rolled into any desired shape, thus saving all intermediate processes. It was invented originally to roll molten solder into thin plates, but the process is pronounced by experts to be equally applicable to iron and steel in its various forms of plates, structural iron and rails. It is believed that the cost of manufacturing steel rails can be reduced to the extent of $10 per ton, and that thin iron plates for tinning can be made much below the cost of production of tin plates in Wales, thus making a new industry in this country. The molten metal is passed between rollers and chilled as it passes, the rollers being kept cool by a stream of water which passes through them. Another advantage is that iron and steel so rolled will be much more even and closer in texture than that made by present methods, being free from the air holes which result from the intermediate processes.

At the time of the murder of Col. Clayton in Arkansas, the Little Rock Gazette, a Democratic paper, handled the question with marked frankness, denouncing such lawlessness as a disgrace to the State. Lately the same paper has changed its tone very materially, and it has been difficult to reconcile its utterances now with what it had said in the past. The explanation is found in the fact that the Gazette under its former management was driven to the wall. Its Democracy was called in question. The party leaders met in secret conclave and passed the word round to boycott it. A paper unwilling to sustain Democratic methods must not be supported by Democrats. Its advertisers were mostly Democrats, and they refused to patronize it. According to Powell Clayton, the Democratic paper which earnestly demanded the punishment of his brother's murderers was literally crushed to the wall and its editor, disgusted and indignant, sold out and left the State. The present managers are in hearty sympathy with the worst elements of the State, their motto being success in politics, no matter how it is obtained. The treatment accorded this editor and the judge, who charged the Grand Jury, both having been driven from the State, shows the danger of repudiating Democratic election methods in Arkansas.

The New States.

Some interesting gossip about the relation of the Republican National Committee to the coming campaign in the new States is given by a Washington correspondent. W. H. Mendenhall, now of Dakota, but originally of Pennsylvania, came east recently on business and to visit some friends in Pittsburg. Before he started Mr. Mendenhall was requested by Harrison Allen, another old Pennsylvanian, and chairman of the Republican Committee of North Dakota, to consult Senator Quay about the conduct of the election there.

Accordingly Mr. Mendenhall rode over to Philadelphia in the train with Senator Quay on Saturday, returning to Washington today. Mr. Mendenhall was referred by Chairman Quay to Colonel Dudley, of the National Executive Committee, who has been given general charge of the work of looking after the needs of the Republicans in the new States until after the elections.

Mr. Mendenhall has seen Colonel Dudley, who says that the National Committee will furnish all the speakers asked for in the new States. The National Executive Committee has sent one of its members, Henry Payne, of Wisconsin, out to Montana, the only one of the new States that can be considered doubtful, to investigate the needs of the party there. Mr. Payne is already at work, and will soon come east to report to Chairman Quay and Colonel Dudley.

Governor Mellette and Delegate Matthews, of Dakota, had a long interview with the President on Saturday before his departure for Deer Park. They found the President greatly interested in all the details of the work of the Constitutional Convention of the new States, and he kept them busy answering his questions for an hour. Toward the close of their interview they made some inquiries about appointments to federal offices in the new States, and President Harrison told them to consult with members of his Cabinet, adding that his time was so much occupied with larger matters that he was forced to entrust the distribution of patronage mainly to his secretaries, in whose recommendation he had confidence. This bit of information, coming as it does straight from headquarters, will be a little discouraging to the news columns of Mugwump and Democratic papers, which are continually representing the President as giving his whole time to office seekers, and which are constantly exploiting some terrible quarrel between the President and members of his Cabinet.

THE LIQUOR PROBLEM.

An English journal puts the liquor problem in this form: Twenty-five snakes running through the streets, that is free whiskey. Twenty-five snakes gathered into a box in which twenty-five holes are made by authority of the court, that is low license. Ten of the holes are closed and the snakes all get through the other fifteen, that is high license. Drive all the snakes over to the next town, that is local option. Kill all the snakes, that is prohibition.

Save the Babies!

Fresh, Pure Milk a Necessity.

It is a well understood fact, daily emphasized by our physicians, that the largest proportion of infantile stomach diseases, such as diarrhœa, cholera infantum, etc., are due to the use of poor milk, or milk which is not fresh. It is also true that milk left in the morning will not keep fresh and harmless for twenty-four hours during hot weather, and that therefore milk to be used by infants should be had fresh twice a day. In order to accommodate customers, I shall, in addition to my usual morning delivery of milk, make a delivery at night to all who will leave their orders.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills." We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with boiling water or milk. THE PRESIDENT'S TRIP.

Details of the Bar Harbor Excursion.

Will Leave Deer Park August 6th

WASHINGTON, July 24. Walker Blaine to-day received from Private Secretary Halford an outline of the President's trip to Bar Harbor next month. The President will leave Deer Park the sixth of August and proceed to New York by rail, and to Boston via Fall River line, will stay in Boston one day. There will probably be a public reception in that city. The President prefers that any entertainment may be under the auspices of the authorities, and public in character. The trip between Boston and Bar Harbor will be made by rail. It is not certain whether Mrs. Harrison will accompany the President, but probably she will. Walker Blaine will leave here the first of August to make the necessary arrangements for the trip, and will meet the President and party at Boston.

The total production of pig iron was 4,707,999 tons.

MUTINY AND MURDER.

Case of the Bark Mary H. Kitchen.

PHILADELPHIA, July 24. There is a suspicion in shipping circles that the Philadelphia bark Mary H. Kitchen, given up for lost, is still afloat under the name of Klasen. When the marine underwriters who had risks on the vessel were about paying the insurance due information was received from London through Lloyd's Shipping Register, that the Kitchen arrived at Montevideo, May 23, under the name of Klasen. It is now feared that Capt. Ryan was murdered on the passage, the vessel's named changed and one of the crew in command. It is supposed that the crew will collect the freight and leave the the vessel.

FROM WASHINGTON.

News About the Capitol.

Colonel Clark Declines.

WASHINGTON, July 24. Emmons Clark, ex-Colonel of the famous Seventh Regiment, New York National Guards, has declined the appointment of consul to Havre, recently made. In a letter to Acting Secretary Wharton, Col. Clark says his friends and especially his physician, have made such representations to him that he felt constrained to decline.

Commissioner Roosevelt on the Civil Service.

Civil Service Commissioner Roosevelt said today that charges had been brought against the pension office and sixth auditor's office that men were discharged, because they were Democrats. He was not prepared to say that this is a violation of the law, but individually he is firmly of the opinion that it is a violation of the spirit of the law. He thought that no one, unless an active partisan, should be dismissed from the public service. The commissioner is going to look the matter up.

The Well and Labors Mexican Claims.

Among the papers President Harrison may take action on while at Deer Park is a statement from Secretary Blaine responding the noted Well and Labors claims, upon which the government of Mexico paid several hundred thousand dollars under the judgment of the commission before whom the claims were tried. After Mexico paid a portion of the sum awarded further payment was stopped during Cleveland's administration. The matter was taken up by Congress upon the plea that the testimony before the claims commission was perjured and unreliable, and the claims themselves unjust and unfounded. A long investigation by the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations resulted in a report, just before the 50th Congress adjourned, sustaining the plea and recommending the passage of a bill to secure a retrial. Secretary Blaine awaits instructions as to the disposition of the money paid by the government of Mexico. The claimants have made a demand for it under the judgment awarded by the commission. The amount involved is nearly $700,000.

IS HOGAN PLAYING POSSUM?

The Missing Assassin Seen by a Friend.

DETROIT, Mich., July 24. A despatch, to-day, from Jackson, to the Journal says: Harvey Flower, of Jackson, who has known Hogan from boyhood, stated that last Thursday he saw Hogan. Flower talked with him and Hogan requested him to keep quiet for a time. The foregoing information is considered reliable. Two other men claim to have positive knowledge that it was not Hogan's brother William, who made the unfortunate descent at St. Thomas, Ont., but Hogan himself. He is hiding until he recovers from the new deal.

OUR NEW SISTER STATES.

North Dakota.

BISMARCK, North Dakota, July 24. The judiciary committee completed its labors and reported to the constitutional convention. The committee recommends that a supreme court with three judges be established; that six judicial districts, with as many judges as the present system of justices of the peace be retained. The convention adjourned without debating a question or introducing any new matter.

The State is limited in taxing to seven mills per cent. on the value of property. School lands remain in perpetuity only the interest to be used. Compulsory education may be enforced to a certain limit. Legislature is authorized to make regulations for charges by railroads and express companies.

FOR WIFE MURDER.

A Brute Held for Trial.

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 24. Walter D. Town was to-night placed under arrest by Patrolman Cassidy, charged with wife murder. He is said to have beaten her horribly Sunday evening and renewed the assault Monday night. To day the city physician was called to attend Mrs. Town, finding her past all hope. Death occurred about 10 P. M.

THREE WHALERS LOST.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24. News from Ounalaska, by steamer Bertha, confirms the recent reports of the loss of three whaling schooners, James A. Hamilton, Otter and Annie. No trace of them is seen in the Arctic. The vessels carried about sixty officers and men.

ANOTHER CAVE-IN.

Much Damage to a Pennsylvania Colliery.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 24. A cave-in occurred at Hyde Park this morning, over the Central Mine. Over six acres of ground were affected. The fifth ward public school building was badly damaged. Fully a dozen private residences were cracked. Large fissures may be seen in the earth in the center of the affected district. The earth settled fully ten feet. The damage cannot be estimated. Within the mine six chambers were affected and the miners and laborers were unable to proceed with their work.

EXPLOSION OF MINE GAS.

Two Killed and Four Frightfully Burned.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 24. This afternoon while a number of men were removing rock and coal from chambers closed at the Central mine, Hyde Park, by the cave in, a lamp ignited the mine gas and a frightful explosion followed. John Williams and Robert Roberts were killed and four others frightfully burned.

THE JOHNSTOWN DISASTER.

Systematic Swindling in the Division of the Relief Funds.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 24. A number of orders for money were stopped by the board of inquiry, because of systematic swindling. The distribution of $500,000 has cost a great deal of time and the end is not in sight. Many sufferers to a great extent have not registered. It is a difficult matter to place all the blame where it properly belongs. All local employes are working like beavers to finish the task. The amount paid out on orders today was $15,144. The latest statistics, carefully compiled by the board of inquiry, place the number of lives lost in the devastated district at about 6,000.

DAMAGING RAINS.

Great Loss Caused to Small Grains.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 24. The heavy rains of the past few days in Kansas, welcomed as a sure preventative of hot winds, and as a saviour of the corn crop, seem to have done almost as much harm as good. The rains were the heaviest in the small grain regions, where much of the wheat and oats have not been stacked. The damage in this direction will be considerable.

FOREIGN NEWS.

The Royal Family Grants.

LONDON, July 24. Since Mr. Labouchere laid on the table in the House of Commons his motion to substitute for the report of the royal grants committee an address to the Queen, stating that the sums given the Royal family already amply sufficient, and that if further supplies are needed they ought to be provided through retrenchment in expenses of the royal household and not by fresh demands upon the taxpayers, there has been a rupture among the Liberals and Mr. Gladstone, Sir William Vernon Harcourt and Mr. Parnell have decided to support the Government. John Morley will move an amendment against increasing the allowances of the Royal Princes unless when the next request is made it is accompanied by a pledge that it will be the final one.

Mr. Gladstone's pressure upon Labouchere to withdraw his motion has been futile. Labouchere will listen to no compromise. The Parnellite members of the House are whipping for the government, greatly to the disgust of the radicals. The opposition being thus at sixes and sevens, a large government majority on the report of the royal grants committee is assured.

A Boulangist Used Roughly.

PARIS, July 24. M. Duport, a Boulangist member of the Chamber of Deputies, last night attempted to make a speech at Fort L'Abbe Finisterre, and was attacked by a mob and stoned. A number of teeth were broken and his face cut.

Bidding for Support.

Henri Rochefort announces that the Boulangist committee will pay to officials who are dismissed from government employ because of their adherence to the principles of Boulangism, the full salaries they now receive from the government.

Murder and Suicide in High Life.

COPENHAGEN, July 24. A great sensation was caused in the highest circles of society here by the suicide of Count Sparre, member of a prominent Swiss family, after he had killed his mistress, a circus performer. Count Sparre was married and he and his wife moved in the most aristocratic circles in Copenhagen.

The Austrian Infantry Increased.

VIENNA, July 25. The Austrian infantry has been increased by the addition of 9000 men, raising that branch of the service to a war footing.

Sugar Refineries Shut Down.

BRISTOL, England, July 24. Until the bounty system was put in force on the continent sugar manufacturers have gave employment to thousands and support to many more. After the present week there will not be a refinery in operation here. The men in the last refinery to be shut down have been informed that there will be no work for them after Saturday.

THE WEATHER.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER,
WASHINGTON, July 24, 8 P. M.

Indications:

Indications for the next 24 hours for Maine: Fair weather; no decided change in temperature; westerly winds.

Base Ball Notes.

There will be no game to-morrow with the Seaside club, composed of colored players, as intended, as the manager of the club writes that the battery is not available for the trip. This makes the only game this week the contest on Saturday between the Augustas and Bangors, and it is expected that all who attend will get their money's worth in good ball playing.

The postponement of the game last Saturday between the St. Johns and Bangors, owing to the rain, was quite a loss to Manager Toole. He has telegraphed to the St. John manager to draw on him at sight for $70, thus giving them prompt remuneration.

The games arranged for next week are the Boston Blues on Monday and Tuesday, and the New Bedfords, with Weary and Piggott, formerly of the Bangors, on Wednesday and Thursday. On Friday the Bangors will go to Augusta and play the home team. Week after next the Bangors will play the Brooklines on Tuesday and Wednesday and the Haverhills the latter part of the week.

Morrison will be unable to play on account of sickness and he has been released. Sweeney will take his place as captain of the team. A new catcher, Laird, is coming on the boat to-day. He has caught on Massachusetts teams and is said to be a fine backstop. Manager Toole is negotiating with Foley, of Nashua, N. H., who has a remarkably good record as a pitcher, and he will probably be secured. If so he will be a valuable addition to the team.

Old Town Notes.

Dr. Porter's horse ran away yesterday, wrecking the carriage and harness. The horse was cut slightly.

James D. Wedgewood, employed in Perkins & Carll's mill, met with an accident yesterday. He was working around the wheels when a portion of the gearing gave way and he received a bad gash over the eye. His injuries are not serious.

At about half part two o'clock fire was discovered outside this mill. It was extinguished before any damage was done.

Judge J. C. Wilson, who has been ill, is now able to get down to his office.

A GOOD APPETITE

LOCAL MATTERS.

(For additional Local News see First Page.)

For Summer Outings.

THE DAILY While will be sent to persons going out of town for any period of time, and address changed as often as desired, at 15 cents per week, postage paid.

Dr. L. S. Chilcott has moved into his new residence at the corner of West Broadway and Union street.

B. F. Osgood, Jr., postmaster at Kingman, died yesterday. He leaves a wife and one child. His age was thirty years.

The annual reunion of the Sixteenth Maine Regiment Association is to be held in Farmington, Sept. 11 and 12.

There are one hundred and fifty guests at the Kineo House at the present time, showing the great popularity of this beautifully situated and liberally conducted hotel.

After the services next Sunday at the First Congregational chapel, Brewer, the chapel will be closed for four weeks, during which time no services will be held by the society.

The citizens near the City Common complain that the burdocks are of immense size and ought to be cut. One of the citizens cut them last year and thinks the city ought to do it this time.

The rumor that an eloping couple from a Massachusetts city are spending their honeymoon at a Maine hotel causes a critical inspection of each newly-arriving young couple supposed to answer to the description of the missing pair.

The funeral services of the late Asa De Witt, Esq., of Old Town, took place from his late residence yesterday and was largely attended, the house being completely filled with friends and neighbors who had assembled to pay the last tribute of respect. The services were under charge of Rev. W. W. Hooper, of the Universalist church, Orono.

Mr. W. J. Reed, the well known lumberman, was in the city yesterday. He had charge of the East Branch drive, which is in the boom. Everything has been cleared up and the men paid off. The drive was a successful one and comes in considerably earlier than last year. It contained about 15,000,000 feet of logs.

It is well known that there is good fishing in Pleasant Lake and some large catches have been made there this year, but probably the biggest haul of the summer was made Tuesday by Messrs. T. H. Arnold, Harry Robinson, Wildes P. Veazie and Will Veazie, who in a short time in the forenoon captured 175 fine perch. It was fine sport and they pulled in the fish almost as fast as they could bait the hook.

It has been deemed advisable by those who have been arranging for a steamboat trip to the Gettysburg Celebration, to throw up the affair. This step has been taken, as it was found that the proposed excursion would seriously interfere with that arranged by the commission. Though the expenses of the trip will be somewhat increased, it is doubtless the better plan to accept the arrangements of the commission.

The annual meeting of the Lockwood Company was held yesterday at Waterville and the following officers were chosen: Directors, Reuben B. Dunn, Josiah B. Mayo, James H. McMullen, R. Wesley Dunn, Joseph S. Wheelwright, Seth M. Milliken, and John W. Danielson. Reuben B. Dunn was elected President, and John W. Danielson, Treasurer. The past year has proved a profitable one, and a dividend of three per cent declared, for the past six months, besides a good addition to the surplus fund.

A gentleman lost a bunch of keys overboard yesterday at the old Veazie wharf, and was naturally seldewhat disturbed as the chances for recovering them were not very good. Officer Tracey, who has used the grapnel irons with good success for several years, was sent for and he made a small grapnel of wire and fish hooks. With it he recovered the keys in about fifteen minutes in water fifteen feet deep. It was a good piece of work and the owner of the keys was much pleased at recovering his property.

The interior of Grace church, Union street, is to be much improved by frescoing, painting and other processes. The work of decorating will begin in about ten days, and during its progress the church will be closed. It has also been decided to move the organ from the rear to the front of the church into the arch way in the rear of the altar, which will be of the right size to hold it. The improvement to the church edifice will be greatly appreciated by the members of the society and others who attend services there.

THE BOY AND THE MATCHES. One day last week there was a narrow escape from a bad fire at a house on Pearl street, from the usual cause of the boy left alone with the matches. The boy's parents went out and left him alone in the house for a short time. He proceeded to amuse himself by lighting some matches and dropping them into a barrel of shavings. A nice little fire was quickly in progress and the whole house would soon have been in flames, had not the parents returned just in the nick of time. A liberal use of water extinguished the fire, but the woodwork in the room where the shavings were was considerably scorched.

THIRD MAINE REGIMENT ASSOCIATION REUNION. The Third Maine Regiment Association have decided to hold their reunion Wednesday, September 11, at Bath. The official programme has not yet been announced, but the people of Bath are making great preparations for their reception. After the parade and business meetings, the regiment and guests will sail down the Kennebec river to Fort Popham, where the banquet will be prepared. With the exception of the president all the present officers will probably be re-elected. The president is changed every year. This is the regiment of that old war horse Col. Moses B. Lakeman, and many veterans of the Maine 13th have announced their intention to be present.

STATE QUARRIES. The Vinalhaven County slate quarries are doing a large business this year. Four quarries are in operation in the town of Vinalhaven, and one each in the towns of Rockland and Brownville. Steamer Indiana, Capt. Thomas, sailed from Liverpool Saturday last for Philadelphia. Capt. Thomas is a son of County Treasurer B. B. Thomas.

The annual meeting of the Bangor & Castine Telegraph Co. will be held at Bucksport on Tuesday, 30th instant, at 2 o'clock P. M.

Union Hose Company will have an excursion to Rockland on Thursday of next week. The members of the company will be guests of the Rockland fire department and will remain there two days.

The Crosbyville Chapel society will make an excursion to Islesboro and Eagle Island on Steamer Castine, today, leaving Bar Harbor wharf at 7 A. M., and Crosby's wharf at 7.15 A. M.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians had planned their annual excursion for the 8th of August, but as the members of St. Mary's parish desire to hold their excursion upon that date the former have kindly postponed their excursion until the 27th or 28th of August, the exact date to be announced hereafter.

THE G. A. R. The second quarter report of Assistant Adjutant General Milliken, of the G. A. R. Department of Maine, shows that there are now 9,363 comrades in good standing, gain over last quarter of 61. There are in all 150 posts. During the quarter 1,622 31 have been expended for charity. Thirty-one comrades have died during the quarter. The following table of membership of different posts will be of interest: Bosworth 2, Portland, 332; Beale 12, Bangor, 312; Burnside 17, Auburn, 311; Edwin Libby 16, Rockland, 270; Custer 7, Lewiston, 219; Seth Williams 13, Augusta, 204; Cutler 18, Togus, 194. Twelve posts besides have over one hundred members each.

THE WRONG MAN. John Clark, a fellow not unknown to fame, was pestering the passers-by on Kenduskeag bridge yesterday afternoon by begging for money, when Officer Tracy came along. The officer, who is on the night force, was in citizen's dress at the time, and this led Clark to make a mistake, that he now regrets. Not knowing to whom he was talking he requested a loan of a dime from the officer, but the latter did not see the point and requested Clark to accompany him to the station, where he was left to contemplate upon the problem of how to get rich without work.

FIRE ON ESSEX STREET ROAD. The farm buildings owned by Robert Crawford, about two miles out on Essex street, were burned to the ground, Tuesday. The fire caught in the barn, and spread rapidly as there was a quantity of hay inside, to the house. Everything was consumed by the flames. The house was occupied by a man, who carried on the farm, and his family, and they, after being awakened by the fire, had considerable difficulty in saving some of their household goods. The cause of the fire was unknown. The buildings were insured in the agencies of J. S. Rimbalt & Son for $700, and C. S. Pearl for $1,000.

ENGLISH BALLAD CONCERT.

A Pleasant Musical Event in City Hall Last Evening.

The "English Ballad" concert at City Hall, last evening, was attended by a good sized audience, the members of which were most pleasingly entertained by the choice numbers of English song and instrumental music which were rendered. The following was the PROGRAMME.

PART FIRST.

1. Orchestral Selection.
2. Pastoral Song—"Doris," (Obligato, Violin and Cello, Messrs. Oscar and E. T. Wasgatt.) Miss Annie Wasgatt. [illegible]
3. Ballad—"A song and a rose," Mr. E. L. Jordan. Cowen
4. Song—"The old, old words." Miss Wiley. Boccali
5. Cornet Solo—"The Blue Bells of Scotland." Mr. Adams. Harrison

PART SECOND.

1. Violin Solo—"Legende," Oscar Wasgatt. Wieniawski
2. Song—"Appear love at the window," (By special desire.) Mr. Jordan. Greigh
3. Ballad—"The Foolish Little Maiden," Miss Wiley. Collins
4. Song—"Who Cares," Mr. E. L. Jordan. [illegible]
5. Cornet Solo—"Oh hush thee my baby," Mr. Adams. Pease
6. Sacred Song—"Meditations," (Cornet Obligato, Mr. Adams.) Song and Composed by Miss Wiley. Words by Mr. E. L. Jordan.

Miss Wiley, although suffering from illness, gave her hearers much pleasure by her songs, which she rendered with much tone and finish. She was encored each time and responded. The last number, "Meditations," composed and sung by Miss Wiley, is an excellent composition of interesting and soothing melody. The words are by Mr. E. L. Jordan. It was sung with cornet obligato by Mr. Adams.

Miss Wasgatt's song was an enjoyable feature of the programme, and she was deservedly encored. She sang with excellent expression and much power. Mr. Jordan is always heard with pleasure in this city, and received a hearty welcome. His songs were finely rendered and called forth marked applause. Mr. Wasgatt's violin work was of a high order and showed the continual improvement that is being made by the talented musician. He was heartily encored. Mr. Adams' cornet solos met with the marked approval of the audience, and he received prolonged applause, responding to encores.

The orchestral selections by Mrs. Tuck, Dr. E. T. Wasgatt, Mr. Oscar Wasgatt and Mr. E. C. Adams and Mr. Fred Adams were well given. Mrs. Tuck and Miss Wasgatt acted as accompanists in a pleasing manner.

AFTER THE FIRE.

Rebuilding at Kenduskeag.—Other News.

Our Kenduskeag correspondent writes: We have got somewhat settled down since our last conflagration, and have commenced to rebuild. F. R. Warren is at work on his shop and intends to have a fire in his forge within a week. J. F. Dolliver has decided not to rebuild, as at first intended, and will go to Minneapolis, Minn., and take his son Fred with him. William H. Shaw has opened his business in the cheese factory building. R. S. Bodsdon has opened his jewelry business in the store of Frank Harvey, on the same spot where he carried on business some twenty-eight years ago, and it looks natural to see him there as in times past. This is the second time he has been burned out by the fire of some one else, but still he is happy.

Little Willie, son of W. C. Spratt, died on Monday night after a short sickness of only a few days. He was a boy of very good disposition and one beloved by all. He will be much missed by his playmates. His parents and relatives are stricken with grief and have the heartfelt sympathy of the community in their sore bereavement. He was about thirteen years old.

Lloyd E. C. Hinckley, Esq., formerly of this city, who has been located at Eldorado, Kansas, the past two years, has removed to Denver, Col., where he has form-

THE EAST CORINTH FIRE.

Hearing in the Municipal Court.

There was a line of waiting men and women filling the passage way to the court room in the afternoon some time before the doors were opened and when the doors were opened there was the usual crowding in, which is noticed on all such occasions. Court opened at 2.15 o'clock and the examination of Dr. Philbrick was resumed. Found Mr. Gilman and his wife in the store on the evening of the fire after returning from a visit to Kenduskeag. Wrote a letter to go out in the morning mail. While I was writing, Gilman was in the office where I was writing and his wife went out doors to the street. Mrs. Gilman went out while I was writing. When I came out there was but one lamp lighted in the store. I was preparing to send some money to Bangor. Got the money out of the safe; think Gilman was near at the time. Do not remember of his leaving the office all the time. The sales for the week before and that week up to the day were in the safe. He had a space at the left hand side of the safe at the bottom where he put the trays containing his jewelry. Noticed nothing unusual about them on that night. A pocketbook contained the money. Took $70 out of the pocketbook and some small change.

OUT OF THE FIRE.

Spoke to Gilman about sending the money by the stage, whether he would be up or not. He said I had better take the money home with me as he might forget to send it. He made some remarks about taking the gold watch cases home which him and I laughed at him, saying they would be as safe in the safe as anywhere. Don't remember that he said anything about it. As I remember the doors of the safe were partly open. I went directly home after the talk. In my private drawer there was about $60, or thereabouts. I had put it in there myself and had kept the drawer locked. Do not know whether Gilman knew of this money being there or not. I did not close the safe and do not know whether he closed it or not. I left Gilman in the store. Saw him for the last time that night at or near the door of the office. The light was on the counter near the office door. Do not know when Gilman came out of the store. Was aroused by the alarm of fire and dressed and went to the scene. When I arrived I rushed up into my office on the second floor. Desired to get my books, etc., and succeed in getting a portion, and when I got into the store the goods in the front part were removed. Then helped to get one case out of the back part. Did not see Gilman till later. He arrived before the building had been entirely consumed. It was less than half an hour after I arrived that I saw him. He told me the safe had been drilled and he had been robbed. I urged him into the house and to keep quiet and I think he went, but do not know. Next saw him after the fire had burned down a good deal. Several asked me if the safe had been drilled, and I told them Charles said it had been. I asked Gilman if he had closed the safe, whether he had thrown the bolts or not. Found the safe on its face resting on the doors, and it looked as though it was partially opened. Suppose the bolts were thrown when we tipped it up, as they would probably have fallen open. He said he found some of his trays on the floor when he arrived. Saw the safe before the fire got to it. I got no definite reply from him so that I could tell whether the doors were open and have had nothing more than a general conversation with him since. The safe was opened Friday morning after the fire. I assisted in opening it and Gilman was present at the time and he used a wrench on the cheb to turn the bolts. There was a lever belt on each door and the handle was gone. Opened the door with the bar. The inside door was closed and locked. Can not tell who unlocked the inside door but I opened it. Found some of the trays in the safe and the contents gone. There was no money in the tills and my pocket book was gone. The money in my private drawer was all right but all other money was gone. The private drawer was locked.

WITH AN IRON BAR,

Do not remember anything except general conversation with Gilman at that time. Remember nothing particular until the next Monday, when he spoke of the hole drilled and its relation to the combination. He spoke of the hole forming a triangle with the combination and the knob, also of the difficulty of opening it unless familiar with its construction. On Tuesday afternoon we were in the stable next his house and had some talk. I said something to him about certain stories that had reached my ears. He said they were notes. He asked me if the person who did the job could be arrested without a warrant, and if he could be arrested anywhere, even in Canada. I told him he could. He said something about committing suicide and I told him not to, to stand up and fight it out, that an innocent man could not be convicted. He was very excited at the time. Mrs. Gilman asked me who could arrest the culprit and where. He was not present when his wife asked me these questions. I told Gilman after the fire that I had $200 in my drawer, and he told me he had $900 in his drawer. The matter of my having money in the safe did not come out till three or four days after the fire as I kept it quiet. Gilman said several times that he felt as though he would be visited again. That is that he would be robbed as he had been. At that time the safe goods being taken in the safe for several times. He expressed an apprehension on the evening of the fire that he might be visited again. Also on one Saturday night he took his gold watches home with him. I was in the middle of the pond when he attempted suicide and met the boat bringing him ashore. His clothes were wet but I did not see him in the water. J. M. Trim, Wesley Hunting and Dr. Merrill were in the boat containing Gilman. I thought Gilman was in as good strength as usual after he was taken home. He had on a rubber coat outside of his other coat. He complained of his head after he was taken into John [illegible] half a mile from the [illegible] bottle of what I thought to be smoke, took it from his vest pocket. Saw a glass fall on the ground but did not know how it got there. I refused to take it at my father's house when he offered it to me. [illegible] physical condition normal. Had treated him about three years for the trouble in his side. Asked him some questions about his side, which he answered clearly. He complained of his head again. The indications of insanity were, the motions of his head, eyes, and incoherent talk.

By Col. Hutchins. Visited him Wednesday to the following Saturday, made two calls on Thursday, two on Friday and one on Saturday morning. The first medicines I gave him were to prevent him from getting cold after being in the water. Then gave him medicine for the trouble in the back of his head. Gave him no other medicines than these. Gave the nurses directions as to giving him light food and as to giving the medicines. Also forbid his having company, by the request of his father or brother, do not remember which. Aconite is a common medicine. Do not know certainly that it was aconite I found in the bottle on his person. The safe was in the northwest corner of the office. The witness explained by the diagram the arrangement of the store. There was a steel chest in the safe near the top which had never been locked that I know of as the key was lost. This chest contained two drawers and a pigeon hole. There were two keys to my private drawer, both in my pocket at the time of the fire. Ordinarily the drawer was unlocked. Think there was about $25 in the pocket book besides that in the drawer. I do not know that Gilman took home any of the gold cases but heard he would take them home as he would feel safer to have them there. Do not remember of locking the safe on that night but do not think I did. The witness was quite closely cross-examined for some time, covering the ground already gone over. In answer to a question, the witness said he did not charge Gilman with embezzlement. After a few questions on both sides the witness was allowed to retire, after an examination lasting about three hours or a little more.

John Y. Ricker was called as the next witness. Live in Bangor and am an insurance agent. Gilman had an

with me. The policy had not been delivered up to the time of the fire. I had written to him that the application had been accepted and that the policy would be forwarded in a few days. The fire occurred before this was done. The business was done through Savage, an insurance broker of East Corinth. There is a clause in all policies saying that the company is not holden unless the premium is paid. Hon. George E. Macomber was the next witness called. Reside in Augusta. Was in Corinth last week adjusting the loss by fire. Represent the Granite State Insurance Company. Was in Corinth on Tuesday. Saw Gilman about the middle of the forenoon. When I saw him I told him I wanted to see the stock that was saved from the fire, which he allowed me to do, showing me some gold watches he said he took home for safe keeping. He told me he had $200 in the safe. That he had borrowed $300 from his wife's father, secured by mortgage. Dr. Philbrick signing the note with him. He said he had used $100 of this to pay a note, having left $200. On the night of the fire, he told me, he got up and putting on his trousers went to the store and saved some goods. I talked with him and investigated his actions, which led up to the confession. I did not offer any inducement. Told him if I did I should be as guilty as he was in that case. I asked him what he wanted me to do about the adjustment, and he said he wanted his money. I asked him if he thought anything due him. He said he ought to have his money, and I said he would if he had an honest fire. I told him that I knew who blew the safe and set the fire, and said he had better right it and if there were others concerned in it, to disclose them. He said there were

OTHERS CONCERNED IN IT.

I advised him to make a disclosure. I did not hold out any inducement to him to make a confession as I knew that one obtained under those circumstances would be useless. Talked with him half an hour before he made a disclosure. His policy was dated July 1st, and he said he got it at that time on account of fear of fire on the Fourth. He asked me if the policy was good. I told him it was good if the fire was honest, but I told I was not satisfied with the looks of matters. Asked him if he had heard of the rumors flying about him, and he said he had, saying that he was charged with setting the fire. I told him that I knew who set the fire. He asked who it was and I answered that it was unnecessary for him to ask such a question. I told him it would be better for him to confess. I made no threats and offered him no inducements whatever.

Col. Hutchings then said to the court that he contended that the confession, whatever it was, was not a voluntary confession, that the remark that Mr. Macomber made to him did hold out a distinct hope to Gilman when he told him it would be better for him to confess, and asked that the confession be excluded.

County Attorney Bailey protested against such a proceeding and contended that the Government had a right to have it read. Judge Brett decided that the testimony should be heard.

Witness resumed. Gilman said there were other parties concerned in it, saying they were New York men. The witness then detailed the confession as already published. Gilman told me he was badly in

TEA WHITE,

BANGOR, Maine.

Agricultural and Household Matters.

Cold water apparently stimulates gastric secretion. It does this most probably by dilating the smaller arteries so as to increase the supply of blood. Cold water applied to the skin causes a temporary pallor, rapidly succeeded by flushing and warmth. The dilatation thus obtained is not temporary, but persists for a considerable time.

Heat, on the contrary, when applied to the skin, reddens the part temporarily, but finally produces pallor and bloodlessness. Hot water is better than cold water for the control of hemorrhage, because it produces a final and more lasting contraction of the arteries of the part. There is no reason to suppose that heat acts differently upon the mucous membrane of the stomach than it does upon the skin. A hot drink will flush the face as a cold drink never does. We administer hot drinks to the patient in a chill because "they drive the blood to the skin." These instances point to contraction in the vessels touched by the hot fluid. Hot water sometimes cures dyspepsia, for the reason that in catarrh of the stomach, as in other inflammations, we have unnaturally dilated vessels and sluggish circulation, or even stagnation of the blood. Contraction is here, as in hyperæmia elsewhere, the first step toward cure. In catarrh of the stomach, therefore, hot drinks may favor secretion and the better digestion of food.

In the primitive state, however, hot drinks were of course unknown. The animals, in Winter, drink from a hole in the ice, and children do not care for hot drinks until they have been taught to use them. A conclusion to be drawn is, not to introduce children to this practice of a retrograde civilization too early. The child's digestion is not benefited by hot drinks so long as he is in a normal state.

Another conclusion is, not to smile superciliously upon your friend because he thinks that a half-glass of ice-water before eating gives him a relish for his food.

A third conclusion relates to milk diet. When milk cannot be taken because it coagulates in lumps, try taking it lukewarm or hot. Ice-cold milk provokes secretion just as ice-cold water does, and this sudden outpouring of the gastric juice coagulates the whole quantity in a mass. By giving the milk hot, on the contrary, secretion is delayed, coagulation occurs more slowly, and a flaky curd is the result.

A fourth conclusion refers to the hot water. While the douching of the digestive tract with hot water may be beneficial for a time, if persisted in after the normal circulatory equilibrium has been reached, it will invariably harm. As a remedy, hot water is not harmless, and its administration should be controlled by the physician's directions just as certainly as the use of drugs.

A last conclusion refers to cerebral hyperæmia. In the condition of flushed face and mental confusion, which sometimes results from worry or overwork, try an ice cream, if it can be digested. If not, try a water-ice, or even a half-glass of the despised ice-water. The tranquillizing effect of the cold drink has not yet received its due share of attention. The possible agency of the hot drink in the production of "American nervousness" is also suggested. On the other hand, the reviving effect of hot water and other hot drinks in conditions of cerebral anæmia cannot be denied.

Any dictum which unqualifyingly says that cold drinks are good and hot drinks are bad, or that hot drinks are good and cold drinks are bad, must be absurd. Both are good in their place. In the opinion of the writer, however, the cold drink is a physiological requirement, while the hot drink has its place in the treatment of pathological conditions alone.—Dr. Sarah E. Post.

EGGLESS ICE-CREAM. Scald two quarts of milk, wet four tablespoons of corn starch with cold milk, put into the scalding milk with four cups of sugar, and boil until the taste of the corn starch is gone; when quite cold add one quart of thick cream beaten stiff. Flavor with vanilla, rose or chocolate and freeze.

Here are a few good old rules that can be safely followed:

Give the child a seat that shall be strictly its own.

Teach it to take its seat quietly.

To use its napkin properly.

To wait patiently to be served.

To answer promptly.

To say thank you.

If asked to leave the table for a forgotten article or for any purpose, to do so at once.

Never to interrupt and never to contradict.

Never to make remarks about the food, such as "I saw that turkey killed, and how he did bleed," as I once heard a little boy remark at a Thanksgiving dinner.

Teach the child to keep his plate in order.

Not to handle the bread or to drop food on the cloth and floor.

To always say "Excuse me, please," to the mother when at home, and to the lady or hostess when visiting, if leaving the table before the rest of the party.

To fold its napkin and to put back its chair or push it close to the table before leaving.

And after leaving the table not to return.

I know children who observe every one of these rules, and are in no way priggish, but are simply well-behaved, delightful companions, and they owe it all to their mother's careful training from babyhood.—Good Housekeeping.

The more natural and simple a lawn, large or small, the more attractive to refined taste. An undulating surface pleases the eye, imparts an air of greater extent to the inclosure than if the surface be dead level, or uniform even slope. Permit a portion of the lawn to remain open; nothing can be prettier than an expanse of rich green, close-shaven turf. The grouping system is always more pleasing than the haphazard manner of dotting trees and shrubs all over the place. These belts or clumps should present an easy-flowing outline, similar to many outer edges of our woods, and all pretence of formality in arrangement must be scrupulously avoided. Have few walks, the fewer, the better; they are expensive to construct properly, are not handsome at best, and require constant attention to keep in condition.

Above all, avoid the vases and statues that some people place over their grounds. The idea of mixing such artificial appliances with purely natural objects like beautiful trees and shrubs must be repugnant to any person of discernment in home surroundings. When this mania for pottery of a low degree shall die out, and the unadorned, attractive garden-spots, as of old, regain their popularity, a great point will have been reached in American gardening. The face of the lawn is of paramount importance. No matter how handsome our trees and walks, neglect of the turf spoils the general effect. Constantly applying top-dressing of some rich fertilizer that will stimulate growth, and replace the substance drain caused by long-continued course of cutting.—Josiah Hooper.

Increased Acreage.

The last monthly report of the Department of Agriculture shows that the breadth of cultivated area increases very largely each season. In the newer States and Territories, settlement is rapid, and each year new areas, almost equal to States in their aggregate, are given over to the plow, while in the older sections, east of the Mississippi River, new farms are carved out of hitherto undeveloped lands. The rapidity with which this extension has gone on during recent years is perhaps scarcely realized. In 1879 the four principal arable crops, corn, wheat, oats and cotton, occupied 128,000,000 acres; in 1888 this area had increased to 150,000,000, an enlargement in nine years of 31,000,000 acres. This increased breadth in four crops alone more than equals the entire area of the three Northern New England States, while the increase in three of the crops, corn, oats and cotton, exceeds the total area of the great agricultural State of Ohio. If the increase in all tilled and grass land has been in the same proportion as that in these four crops, we have now a total area of improved lands in farms of 356,000,000 acres, against 285,000,000 in 1879, or an increase almost equal to the total surface area of New England, New York and New Jersey, and equalling the entire area of improved land in 1880 in the eleven cotton States, with the addition of Delaware and Maryland. Few realize how rapid is this expansion of agricultural possibilities, and the difficulty which even trained statisticians find in keeping up with the progress of this development in all branches of rural economy.

Though milk is sold by quantity there is great difference in its value. Occasionally some wealthy family pays a cent a quart extra for milk of the Jersey cow, but the difference in price does not, if the milk is unadulterated, represent the difference in nutritive value. A better way would be to adopt the practice in some creameries of valuing milk by the cream it raises. Some that is sold in cities by milkmen would rate pretty poor, under such a ruling, yet it would be only just to the consumer.
